For solving other objections it should be noted: God is not only infinitely good, He is infinitely wise, just, and holy. Or perhaps will regard them more as the playsome whimsies of monkeys in human shape, than the serious, positive, dogmatical assertions of a being who dignifies himself with the name of rational. There is, on this account, no commitment to some further, more specific, set of attributes. InDunn,JamesD. Blessed be the souls and bodies of virgins; for they shall receive the reward of their chastity. The proximate cause of impenitence in hell is God's refusal of every grace and every impulse for good.
